

October 2, 2017

Hi Everyone,

Here is a short newsletter to update you on this week's events. Students are working on cultures in social studies. In science, we will be investigating stars and their life cycles. In spelling, we will be completing the next unit. We will be working on writing in ELA with an emphasis on the science fiction genre. Reading logs are due today for September and we will be stepping up the reading since we are finding that students are not keeping up with it as they should. Cursive will continue and students need to be particularly careful to take their time and do their best. In math, everyone is progressing steadily.

Graded work folders go out today with work from the last two weeks. Please sign the slip and return the folder and all the work by Friday.

We have a field trip on Thursday. We are leaving the school at 8:00 a.m. so please make sure your child is here early. We are traveling to Paducah for a performance at the Carson Center. Afterwards we will be going to Bob Noble Park to eat a sack lunch and then we will return to CNS in time for dismissal. Remember that Friday is a noon dismissal with childcare. Next Monday there is no school in honor of Indigenous People's Day.

Best wishes,

Carla
