Happy Friday! We learned about all different types of weather this week. We had the chance to write about our favorite type of weather - sunny weather was definitely the most popular. We also went on a wind walk to see what items we could find blowing in the wind and made some pretty awesome wind chimes.

Next week we will be learning about different habitats. We will work on graphing and counting skills and also paint a habitat for an animal. On Tuesday we will have a visitor from Jackson County Recycling come in and talk to the kids about keeping our earth clean. Wednesday is pajama day, come to school in your favorite pair of pajamas!

Parent teacher conferences are coming up on Thursday, April 11th. I have placed a sign up sheet in our foyer and you can sign up for a time that works best for you. If you do not see a time that would work please let me know as soon as possible so we can make other arrangements.

Enjoy your weekend!
